Married at Brilliant Ceremony

Miss Hazel Mary Griffith, only daughter of Mr and Mrs L. G. Griffith of Plymouth, was married last Wednesday to James A. Chichizola, only son of Mr and Mrs T. A. Chichizola of Amador City. The wedding occurred at the home of the bride's parents at Plymouth, at nine o'clock in the morning. Just before the ceremony, Mrs H. E. Potter very sweetly sang "O Promise Me." Rev. Father Cunningham, former professor of the groom at Santa Clara College, officiated; Miss Norma Smith was bridesmaid and Ralph McGee was best man. The bride was charmingly attired in white louisiane satin, with a wreath of orange blossoms in her hair and a rope of pearls around her neck. Miss Smith looked sweet as a pink in pink voile.

Immediately after the ceremony the bridal party, numbering forty-four, sat down to a sumptuous wedding breakfast. Many bumpers of champagne were drunk to the health of the newly wedded couple.

At noon the bride and groom left in a shower of rice and old shoes for Latrobe, where they took the afternoon train for Catalina Island, where the honeymoon will be spent. As the bride left, she threw her bridal bouquet into the air and it fell into the outstretched hands of the bridesmaid, Miss Smith. The bride was the recipient of many costly and useful gifts. The bridal couple on their return will reside at Amador City.

The new Mrs Chichizola was born and reared in Plymouth, where she is very popular and has a host of friends because of her sweet disposition and winning ways; she is well educated and a fine musician. James Chichizola is one of the rising young men of the county; he graduated at the Santa Clara College a few years ago and now occupies a leading position in the mercantile firm of the Chichizola Estate Company in this county.

Among the many guest that were present were the following: Mr and Mrs L. G. Griffith, Mr and Mrs T. A. Chichizola, Mr and Mrs H. E. Potter, Mr and Mrs Webster Smith and Miss Smith, Mrs Henry Marre, Mrs B. Spagnoli, V. Chichizola, Fred Raab, Mrs F. M. Potter and daughter, Miss Levaggi, Miss Bunker, Mrs C. C. Belding, Mrs Wildman, Mrs Wm. J. McGee, Miss Helen McGee, Mrs T. Chichizola and son of San Francisco, Mr Schweitzer and Father Cunningham.

Hurt by a Falling Rock.

On Sunday last a miner named Mitchell Veruvich, employed at the Kennedy mine, was struck on the foot by a falling rock. He was removed as soon as possible after the accident to the boarding house of A. Perovich, where Dr. Gall dressed his wounds. The foot is badly lacerated, and it will take some weeks under the most favorable conditions for him to recover so as to be able to resume his employment. The victim had only returned to the mine one month after recovery from a severe illness of fever. Early in the week the big toe of the injured foot was amputated.

The Burbank Case.

We are in receipt of a copy of a private letter regarding the case of John Burbank, who was convicted of murder in Shasta county about two years ago, with a request to publish the same. The letter is from one of the jurors in the case, dissenting from the verdict. We deem it best to decline to open our columns to the discussion of a case that has passed the ordeal of the courts, especially by those who took part in the verdict. The trial occurred in another county, and we cannot see that it would serve any good purpose to publish individual opinions upon the case. The sympathy of the public naturally goes out toward innocent sufferers. If any extenuating circumstances have developed since the trial, they would no doubt be fully and fairly considered by the proper authorities. A petition for pardon was talked of, but whether such has been presented we do not know.

Broke His Leg.

A young man named A. J. Johnson, who was employed by C. C. Prouty of Ione valley, in driving cattle met with a severe accident last Friday. While driving a band his horse stumbled and fell on him, in such a manner as to break both bones of the left leg near the ankle. He was brought to the county hospital for treatment last Saturday. It will take him a couple of months before he is sufficiently recovered to resume his employment.

MINING NOTES.

South Eureka.—It is pleasing to be able to report that this mine is looking much better than for several years past. A body of high grade ore has been opened up, and of good size, which has put renewed life into the stockholders, giving a well-grounded hope that the property will prove a dividend payer after so many years of ups and downs. It has been operating for about twenty year, a large portion of the time demanding assessments upon the stockholders to keep the mine going. Large ore bodies have been discovered, and occasionally small bodies of richer ore. The milling capacity of twenty stamps has been employed almost steadily. Now, we understand the management has resolved to add twenty more stamps to the mill. The force of employees is being increased. Several men from Jackson went over there this week on the promise of steady employment.

Bay State.—A crew of men was set to work the first of the week at the Bay State mine near Plymouth. They will repair the hoist, which was destroyed by fire some three or four weeks ago, preparatory to the reopening of the mine.

Illinois.—Reports are current that the Little Illinois mine in Drytown district is to be reopened, by parties with ample capital behind them. This property is situated near the Seaton mine, and is looked upon favorably by mining men. J. H. Thomas, who has owned the property for some time, has just banded the mine to the Little Illinois Gold Mining Company for $8450, payable before the second of December this year. The improvements on the ground at the present time consist of the shaft, which is down a couple of hundred feet, and a small hoist.

Fremont.—Perle Hambric left Jackson this morning for the Fremont mine, where he will begin the construction of a new slimes plant on the "merry-go-round" plan, such as he installed at the Zella mine a few months ago. Negotiations have been under way for some time, but the final arrangements were only completed yesterday.

Never can tell when you'll mash a finger or suffer a cut, bruise, burn or cold. Be prepared. Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil instantly relieves the pain—quickly cures the wound.

Business House Attached.

Following instructions from the superior court of San Francisco in the case of E. C. Young vs. E. W. Kelley, Sheriff Gregory attached the dry goods and furnishing store of E. W. Kelly last Friday and placed Julius Podesta in charge of the place as keeper. Joseph Kirk, attorney for the Board of Trade of San Francisco is attorney for the above named plaintiff. The suit was brought to secure the payment of $873.45 for goods which Young sold to Kelly. Twice before has Kelly been attached by his creditors, but each time he has settled with them, to their satisfaction. The last settlement was two or three years ago on the basis of 50 cents on the dollar. It is said the total liabilities will probably foot up in the neighborhood of $1500. Mrs Delahide keeps a millinery store in a room in the rear of the main store, and as her business is not in anyway involved in the attachment suit, it is necessary to keep the front doors open so as to give access to her department during business hours. The assets of the closed business will fall short of the liabilities as the stock in the store is light.

Married in Sacramento.

Miss Margaret Schillings, daughter of Mrs A. Schillings of Sacramento, and formerly a public school teacher and a member of the county board of education of Amador county, was quietly married Sunday June 7th, to Henry Votaw, a young business man of Oakland, and son of a well-to-do farmer and land owner of this county. The wedding ceremony took place at the St. Francis church in the presence of relatives and a few friends. The church was beautifully decorated for the occasion and Miss Kate Driscoll acted as bridesmaid, while John J. Roche of Oakland, was best man. After the ceremony an elaborate breakfast was served at the home of the bride, after which the couple left on the noon train for Lake Tahoe and other northern points.

The Big Head

is of two kinds—conceit and the big head that comes from a sick, headache. Does your head ever feel like a gourd and your brain feel loose and sore? You can cure it in no time by acting on your liver with Ballard's Herbine. Isn't it worth trying for the absolute and certain relief you'll get? Sold by Ruber's City Pharmacy.

Critical Operation.

Dr. Gall was called to Volcano last Tuesday, and performed an operation upon the four-year-old child of Mr and Mrs L. H. Cook. The little one was suffering from an abscess that had formed on the brain, and something had to be done for its relief or a fatal termination would speedily ensue. The abscess had formed at the base of the brain, behind the ear. A portion of the skull was taken out and the foreign matter removed. The operation was entirely successful, and the child improved when the pressure was removed from the brain. Whether a permanent cure will result cannot be told yet.

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address, F. J. IONE VS. JACKSON

BUSINESS MEN.

The County Seat Wins Again at Baseball.

The return game of baseball between the business men of Ione and those of Jackson was played last Sunday on the grounds of the Jackson Athletic club. The first match was played in Ione about a month ago, and resulted in a victory for the county seat, after a very friendly contest. The return game elicited much rivalry, the valley team being animated with a determination to reverse the order of things if it were within their power. The affair drew a large attendance to the scene to witness the contest, the day being very favorable.

Again the local business men proved victorious after a contest which was carried out from beginning to end in the utmost good humor. The visitors were shown every courtesy, and were well pleased with the kindly welcome extended to them. Indeed, from the excellent reception which the Jacksonites were greeted with in the valley town, it was to be expected that the visitors would be royally treated here. The score was 14 to 9 in favor of the county seat team. The line-up was as follows:

IONE	JACKSON
Amick	catcher
Prouty	pitcher
Vieusieux	1st base
Woolsey	2d base
Withan	3d base
Draper	short stop
Bagley	left field
Tantau	center field

Fishing at Lake Tabeau.

A party of sportsmen from this city, consisting of Nick and Frank Cassinelli, and A. Palmieri, went up to Lake Tabeau last Saturday to open the fishing season. The open season for black bass and trout started June 1st. The lake is the private property of the Standard Electric Company, still it is not necessary to get special permission to fish in those waters. This lake was stocked with black bass by the fish commissioners three or four years ago. They have thrived wonderfully, notwithstanding some drawbacks in the shape of low water on one or two occasions. This party had excellent sport, found bass plentiful, although rather disinclined to bite. They brought enough home not only to satisfy their own appetites, but also to supply a number of their friends. One bass was captured that weighed fully three pounds. A fine trout weighing four pounds was caught. This had evidently come down the ditch from the Mokelumne river; as the reservoir is not considered a breeding place for trout. They stray in from the upper streams however, at certain seasons.

Many Creditors Mourn Kojovich.

Risto W. Kojovich, also denominated as K. V. Koyovich, a butcher, banker and boarding-house keeper at Jackson, Amador county, is said by his creditors to have left the country and left them in the lurch. Two petitions were filed in the United States District Court yesterday by those who claim that he owes them money, asking that he be adjudicated a bankrupt.

One set of creditors, who refer to the debtor as Risto W. Kojovich, consists of A. Androsioich and C. B. Woodworth, $18.75; Luke Baljevich $100, and the Chichizola Estate Company, $1381. The other set, calling him R. V. Koyovich, includes Rade Angelich, $1800; Tripo Koyovich, $1675; Steve Koyovich, $2300, and Mitchell Spiach, $30.

The creditors agree in alleging that the debtor committed an act of bankruptcy in allowing another creditor to obtain judgment in the superior court of Amador county, and that the last seen of him was when he was purchasing a railroad ticket in Sacramento for $100, and that it was believed that he took with him considerable money and personal property which should have been used in liquidating his obligations.—Chronicle, June 16.

The advertisement of the order of the court and subpoena will be found in another column. The whereabouts of the insolvent being unknown, the service of the summons by publication became necessary. One of the petitions to have Koyovich adjudged insolvent was filed by W. J. McGee as attorney, and the other by W. G. Snyder. The money from the property sold by the sheriff a few days ago under an execution issued by the superior court will of course be held pending the appointment of a trustee under the bankruptcy proceedings. The attaching creditors will secure no advantage over the others by virtue of their judgment.

JUSTICE NOT TO BE SACRIFICED FOR SENTIMENTALISM.

Much maudlin sentiment has been called forth by the clouded and tragic ending of the life of Judson C. Brusie. All who knew the deceased deeply regretted the untoward circumstances of his exit from life's stage. And while it is proper that the commendable traits of the deceased should be extolled, and his weaknesses buried in the grave, there is no excuse for pressing this to the extent of casting unjust reflections upon the living. It is perhaps true that the humiliation incident to his arrest on a charge of embezzling funds of the surety company that came into his hands as agent preyed upon his sensitive nature, and in fact hounded him to his death. But even so, to abuse those who, evidently on what was deemed sufficient grounds, accused him of wrongdoing, and the judge for issuing the warrant of arrest, is indefensible from any standpoint. This is the slopping over of sympathy, and accomplishes no good. At all times and under all circumstances, men moving within their legal rights, or in the line of their sworn duty, with the exercise of reasonable discretion, are not only entitled to, but will command the protection of enlightened public opinion.

ANTI-INJUNCTION SNAG.

Party platforms are sometimes shaped from motives of expediency rather than principles. The democrats in their late state convention furnished a striking example of this by inserting an anti-injunction plank as a sop to draw the vote of organized labor. This unseemly flirtation means that in labor disputes the writ of injunction is to be modified in behalf of organized labor. It is more than probable that the national convention to meet in Denver shortly will formulate in the same direction. The party is sadly in need of votes, and will not stumble at coquetting with labor to the debasement of the courts, if such a course hold out the promise of bringing voters to the support of their standard. It is not likely that they would dare to carry out such a policy of class favoritism, even though they were given the power to do so, neither is it likely that so vicious a course, if attempted to be put in practice, would be upheld as constitutional.

At Chicago the proposition to incorporate an anti-injunction plank in the republican national platform, is meeting with determined opposition. Such action, the opponents claim, would amount to a reflection upon the sound judgment of the courts. It would certainly be taken as a divergence from the broad and straight path to satisfy a particular class, and to offset the effect of any similar plank the same element expect to have inserted in the Denver platform. Courts err occasionally, but as a rule they can be depended upon to do the right thing. A muzzling plank would not improve matters.

The republican national convention convened in Chicago on Tuesday, and is not expected to get through with its labors before the end of the week. Before the convention assembled it was a foregone conclusion that the Taft forces had sufficient delegates pledged to insure the nomination of their candidate on the first ballot. The supporters of other aspirants, like loyal party men, will at once bow gracefully to the will of the majority, and bend their energies to secure the success of the ticket at the polls. The vice-presidential candidate has become a perplexing question to solve. Logically the head of the ticket being taken from the middle west, the second place should go to one of the eastern states, preferably New York with its 39 votes in the electoral college. But the refusal of governor Hughes to release the delegates from placing his name before the convention for first position, makes it almost imperative to look elsewhere for vice-president. The second place is not a much-coveted honor. George A. Knight, of California, it is reported, was offered this distinction, but firmly declined, mainly on the ground that he could not afford to accept, on account of the monetary outlay involved in keeping up the social functions of Washington's official life. It is hardly expected that balloting for candidates will be in order before Friday or Saturday. With the nomination for president actually settled, it will not take long to find a suitable candidate for the subordinate place.

The Message on His Watch.

In "Memories of Eight Parliaments" Mr. Lucy, the author, tells a story about Mr. Pyne, member for West Waterford, who, when under the crines set a warrant was issued for his arrest in 1837, shut himself up in his Irish home, Lisfarny castle, had the trenches filled with water, the drawbridge up, took in supplies by a window in the battlements and thus lived for months, while he poked fun at the policemen who were wandering about below with the warrant in their pockets.

"The originality of Mr. Pyne's mind," continues Mr. Lucy, "was further indicated upon his watch. On its dial he had roughly engraved 'Pay no rent.' Whenever in troubled times any of his neighbors came to him for advice as to what they should do in the presence of a demand for rent, Mr. Pyne solemnly shook his head. 'I cannot,' he said, 'express my views on the subject, for Mr. Balfour says they are illegal. But I'll tell you what I'll do. I'll show you what time of day it is,' and, holding out his watch, the perturbed tenant read upon it the admonitory legend, 'Pay no rent.'"

Laws Against Beggars.

Begging was a capital offense in England in the days of Henry VIII., when the laws were very severe against beggars, and under a statute passed in that reign any one caught begging for the first time, being neither aged nor infirm, was whipped at the cart's tail. If caught a second time his ear was slit or bored through with a hot iron. If caught a third time he suffered death as a felon unless some honest person having £10 in goods or 40 shillings in land or some householder approved by the justices would take the offender into his service for two years, entering into a bond of £10. So the law of England remained for sixty years. First enacted by Henry VIII., it continued un repealed through the reigns of Edward and Mary. Reconsidered under Elizabeth, the same law was again formally passed. The two legislative houses thereby expressing their conviction that it was better for a man not to live at all than to live the life of a beggar.

Tainted Diamonds.

The lapidary was about to cut the tail off a tadpole shaped yellow diamond.

"The chances are," he said, "that this fellow will turn white from terror when I split him. If he does his value will go up 200 per cent."

The lapidary set his steel knife in position. He prepared to strike on the knife's back the momentous blow.

"Wish me luck," he said.

And the hammer fell, the amputated tail dropped into the box underneath, and, lo, the yellow diamond that had been split was now quite white.

"The yellow taint," the cutter explained, "was only in the tail. Yet the taint was reflected all through the stone, and this made it seem of a uniform yellow throughout. Now the taint is gone, and our yellow diamond is a pure white one."

"The miracle happens fairly often."

Epigrams of an Indian.

Chief Joseph of the Nez Perces was a truly remarkable Indian. He rarely spoke, but when he did his lips dropped wisdom. Here are a few of the sayings attributed to him:

"Look twice at a two faced man."

"Cursed be the hand that scalps the reputation of the dead."

"The eye tells what the tongue would hide."

"Fire water courage ends in trembling fear."

"Big name often stands on small legs."

"Finest fur may cover toughest meat."

"When you get the last word with an echo you may do so with a squaw."

Fish, Chicken and Veal.

Raw pullet, raw veal and raw fish make the graveyard fat. This is hundreds of years old. A New York caterer (perhaps the most efficient in the city) said to me: "There are three important articles of food that must under no circumstances be served underdone. They are fish, chicken and veal. By chicken I mean all poultry of a domestic nature. All game birds should be rare. You want to be a little careful about lamb too. Give it plenty of cooking."—New York Press.

Buttermilk.

"Which is the cow that gives the buttermilk?" Innocently asked the young lady from the city, who was inspecting the herd with a critical eye.

"Don't make yourself ridiculous," said the young lady who had been in the country before and knew a thing or two. "Goats give buttermilk."—Springfield Journal.

Few and Far Between.

"If men really would 'vote as they pray,'" remarked Goodley, "this would truly be a happy world."

"Yes," replied Wise, "but in that case you wouldn't get some men to the polls once in ten years."—Washington Star.

Must Be Stylish.

"Why do you wear that ridiculous hat?" he growled.

"Do you really think it ridiculous?" she replied graciously. "How lovely of you! I was afraid it wasn't quite the style!"—Philadelphia Ledger.

Patience—I hear Will is going to marry that girl he's been spending so much money on. Patrice—Yes. He's going to make her a permanent receiver.—Yonkers Statesman.

The Song of the Hair

There are four verses. Verse 1. Ayer's Hair Vigor stops falling hair. Verse 2. Ayer's Hair Vigor makes the hair grow. Verse 3. Ayer's Hair Vigor cures dandruff. Verse 4. Amador County Descriptive Article

Amador county comprises an area of 548 square miles. It lies on the western slope of Sierra Nevada mountains, and embraces within its territory all the diversity of valley, foothill, and high mountainous lands.

Climate.—The climate of the populous portions of the county is as genial and healthful as can be found anywhere in California. As climate is one of the most valuable assets of this favored state in attracting population, Amador stands second to no county in this regard. It should, and no doubt will in time, when its climatic advantages are more thoroughly understood and appreciated, become a health resort not only for those in less favored states, but for the residents of other parts of California. The temperature alone the central portion rarely falls below 30 degrees above zero in winter, and as rarely rises to 100 degrees in the summer. Snow seldom falls in the settled districts, and never remains on the ground for more than a few hours. Of course, in the high mountain regions of eastern Amador the snowfall is very heavy—which is characteristic of the entire Sierra Nevada range. The summer season is always accompanied with cool nights; permitting of sound, refreshing slumber. Fogs are rare, cyclones are unknown, thunderstorms are infrequent.

Gold Mining.—The county, although rich in other sources of wealth, comparatively untouched, is noted principally for her quartz mines. The deepest gold mines in America are located here. The Kennedy mine is now taking gold in liberal quantities from quartz extracted from a depth of over 3000 feet below the surface, with every indication that the pay-off extends to a much greater depth. Since the discovery of gold, the county has contributed fully $100,000,000 to the world's supply of the precious metal. The mines are still yielding at the rate of about two million dollars annually. Nearly all of this wealth is produced by eight or ten mines operating on what is called the "mother lode," stretching clear across the county in a north-easterly direction a distance of twenty miles. The mines aggregate between 400 and 500 stamps, and furnish employment for over 1000 miners. This industry is still in its infancy. The unexplored territory, even along the main gold belt, is far in excess of the ground that has actually been worked or prospected. The county offers to-day one of the most inviting fields to be found anywhere in the world for the investment of capital in the fascinating business of gold mining, not alone along the mother lode, but also in the almost untouched mineralized country of the east belt, some ten or twelve miles from the main lode.

Besides gold, we have copper, deposits of pottery, coal, marble, slate, limestone, granite, and soapstone or talc—all undeveloped.

Agricultural Capabilities.—The agricultural possibilities equal, if not exceed, the mineral riches. The valley lands will produce anything that can be grown in the most favored sections. In the foothill lands all kinds of deciduous fruits thrive; also all kinds of vegetable are raised where irrigation is practicable along the numerous water courses. Further up in the mountains, at an altitude of 2000 to 2500 feet, the soil is admirably adapted for apples and potatoes. A ready market for many times the quantity now raised of these commodities can be found in the various mining towns.

Grape culture and winemaking are becoming important industries, both the grapes and wine commanding a better price than the product of the lowland.

Land is cheap compared with other California lands. Improved farms may be secured for one-fourth the price current in some places. Unimproved lands can be had from $5 to $10 per acre. It does not require a fortune to buy a small ranch. There is room for a large addition to our agricultural population. Vast tracts now devoted to cattle ranges might be made the homes of hundreds of prosperous farmers.

Amador has a population of less than 12000. Three fourths of this is concentrated in a strip of three miles above and below the mineral belt.

Jackson, the county seat, has about 2500 inhabitants, and is an incorporated city of the sixth class. Other towns are Sutter Creek, Amador City, Drytown, Plymouth, Volcano, Pine Grove and Oleta. Ione City is the metropolis of the valley section, a thriving town of 1000 inhabitants.

The community is law-abiding. Educational facilities are excellent. A schoolhouse is within easy reach of nearly every family. There is one high school, located at Ione.

The assessment roll for 1907 is $5,800,793, and the tax rate for both state and county purposes $2 on the $100.

The Southern Pacific has a branch railroad running to Ione. From this point the Ione and Eastern railroad extends 14 miles further to the mining section.

The various religious denominations and fraternal organizations are well represented.

The power plant of the Standard Electric Co.—one of the largest in the world—is located four miles from Jackson.

Jewelry Protection.

"The general public is not aware of the carefully worked out system by which the large jewelry houses continue to protect their splendid wares long after these have been sold and passed out of their hands," said a detective, discussing during modern burglaries. "Most large establishments dealing in precious metals and gems have a carefully organized and very efficient detective system, which makes it easy for a patron to recover stolen goods without charge and with little or no delay in the institution of the search. In the safes of these large jewel houses are minute descriptions of every piece of valuable jewelry which goes out from the establishment. Each piece is numbered too. When the gems are missed the patron telephones the shop in which the articles were purchased. At once a special detective, thoroughly acquainted with the business in hand and armed with a detailed description of the jewelry, is hurried to the scene of action. This is without expense to the client."—Chicago Inter Ocean.

Something Hotel Clerks Remember.

"There's lots less danger of the night clerk forgetting an early call left by some guest than most travelers imagine," remarked a hotel manager the other day. "The fact is," he declared, "the average night clerk could not forget one of those early calls if he wanted to. You know, it's a mighty lonesome job the night clerk has. There is little for him to do, few arrivals to take care of and little to break the monotony of his long vigil. About the only fun the night clerk has is those early morning calls. When I was a night clerk I used to count the hours until I could start in on those early calls. There was nothing else to do or think about, and it would keep going through my mind what fun it would be to make some guest share my forlorn state by getting him out of his warm bed all sleepy eyed. I could not any more have overlooked one of those early calls than I could have overlooked my breakfast when the time came."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

In the Jaws of a Lion.

A lion comes at its enemy at full speed, galloping low, and dashes a man standing upright to the ground by the full impact of its body. Major Inverarity states that "the claws and teeth entering the flesh do not hurt as much as you would think," but that the squeeze given by the jaws on the bone is really painful. When knocked over he was still keenly conscious and felt none of the dreamy sensations experienced by Livingstone.

Major Swaine, struck down by a lioness going full gallop, was unconscious for some minutes and did not know what had happened till he found himself standing up after the accident. "I felt no pain," he writes, "not, I believe, owing to any special interposition of Providence, but simply that the shock and loss of blood made me incapable of feeling it. There was no pain for a few days till it was brought on by the swelling of my arm on the twelve days' ride to the coast."—London Spectator.

A Woman Governor.

Queens have ruled many nations, but Pennsylvania is the only one of the United States that ever had a woman for governor. A passage unearthed from Amos's "Governors of Pennsylvania," page 123, says:

"On the 30th of July, 1718, William Penn died, at the age of seventy-four. By his will his wife, Hannah, was made his sole executrix and assumed the management of colonial affairs, executing this difficult task with rare tact and business capacity. 'She became,' says Watson, 'in effect our governor, ruling us by her deputies or lieutenant governors during all the term of her children's minority.'"

Lion and Unicorn.

The animosity which was supposed to exist between the lion and the unicorn, as referred to by Spenser in his "Faerie Queene," is allegorical of the deep rooted ill will which anciently existed between England and Scotland. Ever since 1603 the royal arms have been supported, as now, by the English lion and the Scottish unicorn in token of the fact that St. George and St. Andrew had at last shaken hands and forgotten their old difference.

An Explanation.

The passionate rhythms of "The Merry Widow" waltz floated through the office, and the boss looked up from his desk impatiently.

"Frederic," he said, "I wish you wouldn't whistle at your work."

"I ain't workin', sir," the office boy replied calmly. "I'm only just whistlin'."—New York Press.

A Japanese Joke.

Guest—Do you know that fellow of Sayama is telling all kinds of lies to defame your character? Host—If he is telling lies I don't care, but if he'd begin to tell the truth I'll throttle him. Guest—Oh, you will, eh?—Japan Current.

Her Raven Hair.

"Some novelists don't know what they're talking about. Here's one who speaks of a girl's 'raven hair.'"

"What's wrong with it?"

"All wrong. Ravens don't wear hair. They wear feathers!"—Liverpool Mercury.

No Gift.

"Would you call that orator's eloquence a gift?"

"Not at all. He always charges at least 50 cents admission."—Washington Star.

WORSE THAN HISSING.

Stone Throwing Was a Habit in Theaters of Ancient Greece.

Getting the bird, writes a correspondent, need not always prove a source of woe to the unfortunate actor, for there are still some nations that express their applause by hissing. The Danes, for instance, and the natives of the New Hebrides employ this method of expressing their admiration. Even among ourselves an interruption of the actor who grips our attention is quelled with the hissing "Hush!" which is intended to silence the interrupter and show our admiration for the interrupted.

On the whole, authors and actors of today have reason to congratulate themselves upon the demise of many of the ancient Greek methods of showing dissatisfaction in the theater. The worst that a playwright must reckon with now is an ironical cry of "Author!" followed by a boisterous demonstration. But it is on record that the Athenian audience at least once forcibly ejected an unsuccessful comic poet from the theater. The pelting of bad actors with vegetables and questionable eggs is rare now even in the remotest provinces. But the Athenians did not draw the line at figs and olives as missiles. Aeschines was said nearly to have been stoned to death during his stage career, and there is a story of a second rate musician who borrowed a quantity of stone from a friend to build a house with, promising to repay the loan with the stones collected at his next performance.—London Chronicle.

HUMAN SACRIFICES.

The Brutality That Went With War in Former Times.

Before a battle in former times the priests solemnly devoted to the gods the whole of the hostile army then in sight, and, if possible, no man of it was left alive. When Hermann decimated the great host of Varus into the forest depths all the Romans that escaped death in the battle were captured and led into the dark recesses, where every man of them was sacrificed upon hastily erected altars.

Latham, in his edition of Tacitus, quotes six contemporary authorities to show that this practice of concluding a victory with human sacrifices was customary among our Teutonic ancestors. Some crucified their prisoners, others hung them up to trees for archery practice, but in general a captive was either slain on the spot or else reserved to be sacrificed to the gods. Even when the progress of agriculture induced them to keep a majority of the prisoners alive to be slaves they appeased the gods for this indignity by increasing the tortures inflicted on the small remainder.

Gibbon describes how, before the blazing altar, every hundredth man's arms were hacked off him and, before his eyes, thrown into the flames. All that a red Indian would have done in the eighteenth century was freely practiced by our ancestors of twelve centuries ago. And the highest ideal of a man then included, as a duty, dark cruelty and gresome revenge against all his enemies.

I got so that I could not do my work and at night was so tired and played out that I could not sleep. A friend finally advised me to give Doan's Kidney Pills a trial and I procured a box at the City Pharmacy. I felt their good effect immediately and I continued taking them until I was cured. AFTER BIRD BUTCHERS.

New York, June 3.—That whole regions of the Florida everglades have within the last three years been robbed of every vestige of bird life to supply the world's milinery market with the plumes of the heron that formerly bred there in countless numbers was reported here to-day. From several ornithologists, who have just completed a survey of this section, reports have been sent to the headquarters of the National Association of Audubon Societies, declaring that where America was most rich in tropical races of birds it is totally barren to-day. At this rate of devastation, it is asserted, the plume hunters will leave this country entirely stripped of all its birds of plumage within five years.

To balk the world-wide activities of the professional plume hunters, whose forces have reached and despoiled America's rarest resorts, England is already taking firm steps. From end to end the British empire has been ravaged as Florida has by the market feather seekers. A bill similar to the "model law," which the Audubon workers have succeeded in leading almost every state in this country to adopt, is today being pressed by Lord Avebury in the house of lords, for the prohibition of the importation of the plumage, skin or body of all wild birds except ostriches, eider ducks and birds used as articles of diet. Acting upon the startling reports from Florida, the Audubon officials declared to-day that laws against the sale of the trophies of this butchery, irrespective of where they were taken, would be urged throughout this country. Although the English bill is even more sweeping than the Audubon "model law" here, it is believed that with proper enforcement the latter may serve to stay the encroachment of the international commercial bird slaughter. Eventually it is the purpose of the association to perfect an international organization to check this scouring of the globe for the adornment of the nations at the expense of their bird life.

"The esthetic reasons for checking this universal butchery of all birds who bear the fatal charm of beauty are secondary," said William Dutcher, president of the national association of Audubon societies at its headquarters, 141 Broadway, today.

"The primary reasons are strictly economic. These birds, entirely aside from their wonderful delights as objects of beauty, form the basis of our nation's health as well as prosperity. What the street cleaning department is to this metropolis the sea birds are to the whole country. As their activities as scavengers are checked by unnatural destruction, pestilence and death will surely follow. The birds stand at the foundation of all our natural resources and our very existence as well. To take up this fight against the monied interests that are killing our country's birds we need the individual support—moral and financial of every man, woman and child in the country. It is reported that we have been endowed with a million dollars; but this is untrue, as we depend solely upon the interest of less than a third of this sum, and the annual five dollar bills of our sustaining members. Many millions are behind our opponents, the business bird butchers."

Power of Radium.

Prof. Sir William Ramsey, in London the other day, delivered a deeply interesting lecture—illustrated by many beautiful experiments—at a meeting of the Society of Arts, on "A Radio-Active Gas." The lecture was necessarily highly technical, but there was one passage in which Sir William gave some forcible illustrations of power of the wonderful substance called radium. Twelve grains of radium he said, emitted enough heat to evaporate a pound of water every hour. A ton would boil away 200 pounds of water every hour, and would serve as efficient fuel to warm a house, do all the cooking and afford plenty of hot baths for a large family not only during their own lives, but would continue to perform these useful functions for about twenty generations without falling off. "One grain of radium," he said, "emits each hour enough heat to raise a grain of water through 100 degrees, and one grain of emanation enough to melt a grain of ice." Radium emanation changes into helium and "something else," and if dissolved in water it decomposes the water into oxygen and hydrogen. On removing the oxygen and hydrogen there is left neon, another of the inactive atmospheric gases, which Sir William Ramsey and Dr. Travers discovered. Similarly, radium in the presence of copper produced lithium, potassium and sodium. Sir William, therefore, suggested that it seemed we were in the presence of the transmutation of copper into a lower element than itself. "It is probable, though not proved," he said, "that the element sodium is also a transmutation product of copper, because the residue obtained by evaporating the copper solution, deprived of copper, which had been treated with emanation, is more than twice as heavy as that obtained from untreated copper sulphate." It was too early, however, he added, to propound any satisfactory theory "as to the relationship which undoubtedly exists between the properties of the atomic weights of the bodies which we have been accustomed to term elements."

The board of education has been in session during the whole of the week, and among other thing have gone over the course of studies to be used in the schools of the county. They have changed the course in reading, writing and spelling, but the other studies will remain as they were. For the past couple of days they have been preparing examination questions for the teachers' examinations to be held on next Tuesday.

Sudden Death.

V. Kahn, who was employed as druggist in Rubers drug store last Monday, died suddenly this afternoon. He was a very sociable fellow, took to drinking heavily, and for the best part of the week has been under the influence of liquor. Wednesday when he failed to return in time for his dinner from some work he was doing in the back part of the drug store, Rubser went to look for him, and found him lying on the floor, completely under the influence of liquor. Rubser let him sleep until after eight that night, when he awakened him and paid him what was due. He intended to leave town the next morning, but still unable. About 4 o'clock this morning night-watchman Parker found Kahn on the street and took him to the Globe Hotel, putting him to bed. About 1:30 today when dinner was taken to him, it was found that he was having a fit of some kind, so Dr. Gall was called over the phone and told to come immediately, which he did. But Kahn passed away almost immediately upon the arrival of the doctor. H. E. Potter, the coroner, has been summoned.

Ladies' Aid Bazaar.

The bazaar given last evening by the Ladies' Aid of the Methodist church, for the benefit of the church, was not the success that was anticipated, because of the smallness of the attendance. At five o'clock a supper, which had been donated by the different ladies, was served for the public, while in the evening the various useful articles, which had also been donated were sold by several means, such as a fish pond, an auction, etc. Refreshments were also served during the evening.

SUTTER CREEK BANK

Hearing on Petition to Oust Receiver.

The hearing on the petition of I. P. Allen for the removal of the receiver, Fred Eudey, was had in the superior court yesterday morning. The petitioner, I. P. Allen, was personally present, also Jackson Dennis, the late president of the defunct concern. R. C. Bole appeared as attorney for the petitioner, and A. Caminetti for the receiver. A number of Sutter Creek people, interested in the matter as depositors or stockholders, were also present during the proceedings.

The court proceedings were brief. Mr. Bole read the petition, which set forth that the petitioner was the owner of 85 per cent of the liabilities, and also 85 per cent of the capital stock of the bank. On this showing it was contended the court should as a matter of equity discharge the receiver, and allow the petitioner to assume full charge of the business.

Mr. Caminetti interposed a demurrer, setting forth nine or ten grounds why the petition was insufficient to warrant the court in acting in the premises. The contention was that there was no authority in law to discharge a receiver on the showing made. The bank had been judged insolvent, and a receiver had been appointed to wind up its affairs, and now a proposition was made to allow it to resume business simply because 85 per cent of claims and capital stock had been gathered into one person's hands.

Mr. Bole wanted the court to withhold ruling on the demurrer, and hear the matter on its merits. He proposed to show by Mr. Allen that more than 85 per cent of liabilities and bank shares were owned by petitioner.

The court interrupted the counsel to inquire what right the court had to remove a receiver under the state of facts in this case. The court had taken possession of the bank, and the receiver was the officer of the court to protect all parties concerned; to gather in the assets, and pay out the money to creditors as soon as sufficient funds were in his hands to pay a dividend. A receiver could be removed for misconduct on a proper showing, but nothing of this kind was alleged in this matter. If one man had bought up all the liabilities, that fact would relieve the receiver of so much responsibility. But the showing to the court must be made through the receiver. The court plainly intimated that he could not remove the receiver on any such grounds as were presented by the petition. The decision on the demurrer was reserved, to enable the parties in interest to get together, and see if some arrangement satisfactory to all parties could not be made, and thereafter presented to the court through the receiver.

A. Caminetti stated that as attorney for the receiver he was perfectly willing to step down and out, if by so doing the depositors could be benefited. He had no desire to stand in the way of a settlement.

In the afternoon the parties having held a consultation, the court again convened, and attorney Bole moved that the present proceedings against the receiver be dismissed without prejudice. It was so ordered.

It was stated that some other steps might be taken to get the bank on its feet. The same afternoon the assignee of the bulk of the depositors, with his attorney, was engaged in preparing the necessary paper to submit some definite proposal to the receiver, and in that shape the matter stands up to the time of going to press.

As a preliminary to the proceedings yesterday, a meeting of the depositors was held in Sutter Creek Wednesday evening, at which Jackson Dennis and I. P. Allen were present. The latter made an address, outlining the course proposed, and requesting all depositors and others interested to place their interests in his hands. It was assumed that the larger the percentage of depositors turning their accounts over to him the better the chance of getting the receiver displaced.

Many depositors seem to be under the impression that in going through the receivers hands the assets of the bank would be largely eaten up with expenses. Hence it is reported that over 95 per cent of the claims were gathered into the fold of Mr. Allen.

Wednesday they returned to Lodi, where they will make their future home. The Echo joins their many friends in wishing them every happiness and prosperity.—Echo.

Yesterday morning about 11 o'clock William Johnson, while driving a band of cattle through the town, had his horse fall upon him in such a manner as to break his left leg just above the ankle. Dr. Adams refers to the break technically as a Potts fracture. Both bones were broken just a short distance above the ankle, and so close to the joint that the fracture will be difficult to mend, and at best, will be painful and slow, it not still more serious. At the time of the accident Mr Johnson was riding for Mr Prouty and in turning his horse suddenly to head off some cattle on Buena Vista street, the horse slipped and fell, sliding about twenty feet and causing the accident.—Echo.

Her maiden name was Clara Woodward, and by her sad death leaves her husband, one son and three daughters, besides two brothers and four sisters. Mrs Ringer was a member of the Methodist church. The funeral took place yesterday afternoon from the Methodist church. The bereaved family have the sympathy of their many friends and the community. R. A. Burrows, an expert in the manufacture of articles or goods of asbestos, was in town about two weeks ago, and after examining the ledge of asbestos on the ranch of Payte Mace, reported to the managers of his company, who are located at San Jose. Mr Burrows report brought Messrs A. W. Hastings and N. Oakes to Lodi to investigate the same. These gentlemen were well pleased with the surface and the showing made in the small amount of prospecting done, and were also much pleased at the liberal terms offered by Mr Mace granting them ample time to satisfy themselves that the much wanted asbestos is there in sufficient quantity to warrant development of the lead. These gentlemen uncovered quite a body of asbestos in a hole or shaft, 6 to 10 feet deep, which they opened up, and higher up on the hill found the croppings to be several inches thick.—Echo.

For a time last Sunday the life of Dr. R. I. Bromley wavered in the balance and so near to a separation of body and spirit did he reach that he had attorney F. P. Otis prepare documents in settlement of his business affairs. The cause of his illness was a violent form of blood poisoning. While engaged at the surgery upon the late wife of Leon Baer, he unintentionally punctured the fore finger of his left hand with the needle used for sewing together the incision made in her body. Before night the virus had developed to the danger zone and by Saturday morning it had inoculated his system to the degree to defy ordinary remedies. A telephone message summoned Dr. Lapape from Modesto. He brought with him the serum antidote. Its influence on the poison was slow and questionable until Monday night, then it asserted its curative power and it was known that the doctor would survive.—Banner.

It is alleged that the men have suffered a cut in wages, as compared with last year. That last year the California Door Company paid $2.50 per day for nine hours, and that this year they were cut to $2 and asked to work ten hours. The men being dissatisfied went out on a strike, demanding $2.50 for ten hours or $2.25 for nine hours. The company imported men to take the place of the strikers, but when the new men arrived but two out of the sixteen went to work and these two quit at 9 o'clock yesterday morning. All were won over to the side of the strikers. The strikers are mostly men of families and declare that they must have the scale demanded or they cannot pay their bills at the present prices. As a result of the difficulty the railroad to Caldor is tied up for there are no loaders or pilers at work and the cars cannot move.—Nugget.

About 8:30 o'clock Thursday morning, while the men were working in and about one of the kilns at the brick yard, without warning the crown of the kiln caved in on William O'Neil and William Fortner. The latter was hurt about the left knee and ankle, the flesh cords and arteries being bruised, lacerated, crushed and even torn apart in places, causing the limb to swell to double its normal size, and making a painful and even dangerous wound. Mr O'Neil was seriously injured about the back and one rib broken and maybe more. The spine was no doubt injured, but at the present time the extent of the injury cannot be given. Dr. Adams says he can move his toes or feet some, but that he is in a precarious condition and that the ultimate result is in doubt.—Echo.

The Rawhide mine, once one of the greatest gold producers in the West, its richness for several years being notorious throughout the mining world, is to be again opened up. Captain Nevills states that active operations, through no fault of his, will not begin until September, when a fine three-compartment shaft will be sunk at a point about 1000 feet north of the present main shaft, at the spot from which some years ago Captain Nevills took out $80,000 in a very short time. It was intended at that time to drive down into the ore body, but other workings in the mine were yielding immensely and interest was concentrated on them. The Rawhide, operated under the personal direction of Captain Nevills, was what gave Tuolumne county the greatest quartz mining boom in its history. That it will repeat the trick is quite probable. There are no cheap shoots in it. A strike in that claim means a deluge of precious metal. And you are apt to hear of one before the year is out.—Union Democrat.

American Civil Service Army.

There are 105,811 persons employed in the postoffice department. The figures include 37,339 rural delivery carriers 28,846 clerks in classified offices, 21,695 letter carriers, and 13,892 railway mail clerks. The 62,663 postmasters and 12,850 clerks are not included in these figures. If these are added it will be found that the total number engaged in handling the mail of the country is 180,336. New York ranks first in the number of its citizens employed in the executive civil service, reporting 22,467, or 12.1 per cent of the total number; Pennsylvania ranks second, with 14,627, or 7.9 per cent; Illinois third, with 13,406, or 7.2 per cent, and Massachusetts fourth, with 9,585, or 5.2 per cent.

The approximate average rates of compensation for different classes of employees are as follows: Executive, $1,933; professional, technical and scientific, $1,375; miscellaneous, $1,221; mechanical, $959; clerical, $953, and subclerical and manual labor, $711. In the clerical class, it is interesting to note, the approximate average compensation for women ($950) is practically the same as that for men ($953).

Civil service employees amounting in number to 15,207, or 8.2 per cent of the total number, reported that they were war veterans. Of these veterans 8,461 had served in the Civil War, and 6,743 in the war with Spain. The total number of employees at least 60 years of age is 13,363, and of this number 7,768, or 58.1 per cent, are war veterans. Roughly speaking, therefore, among every ten employees of 60 years of age and upward, six have served their country upon the battlefield.—Harper's Weekly.

A CURIOUS FARM.

Requires No Fences and Never Had a Wheeled Vehicle.

Within sight of the town of Jasper, Mo., in the Ozarks, a settler has a farm which probably is unlike any other in the world.

This farm occupies the tableland on the summit of a ridge and is inclosed with a fence which no animal has ever broken through. It does not rise above the surface of the farm, but falls sheer from the edge a distance of many feet. The man who homesteaded the tableland had a hard climb up the face of a perpendicular cliff to reach the comparatively level summit.

At one point a ledge extends out a few inches and along the face of the cliff at an upward grade. By following this ledge and making use of occasional points of rocks and of shrubs growing in the fissures the discoverer pulled himself to the summit and found a surface well covered with soil and a luxuriant vegetation.

Gradually he improved the ledge until he could carry up tools and seed. By blasting and drilling he cleared a narrow trail, up which he was able to take first some pigs and then a cow. Later on he took up a horse.

And that today is the condition of this curiously protected farm. No vehicle has turned a wheel within its limits of palisades. The live stock has multiplied and consumes the grain raised. Some stones thrown across the trail completely fence in the hogs and cattle. When the farmer has stock to sell he drives the animals down the private trail and strikes the road to Jasper.—Kansas City Star.

HIS CRYING BABY.

And the Cheerful Elderly Man Who Was Generous With Advice.

A young man about twenty-five years old was sitting in one of the third class waiting rooms of a London railway terminus with a baby on his knee, and his helplessness in pacifying the howling child attracted the attention of passersby. Presently an elderly man walked up, with a smile of pity, and queried:

"A woman gave you that baby to hold while she went to see about her luggage, didn't she?"

"Yes."

"And you expect her back, I suppose?"

"I think she'll come back."

"Well, this makes me laugh. A woman played the same trick on me once, but no one ever will again. Young man, you've been 'done.' You've been taken for a country greenhorn and been sold. Better give the baby over to a policeman and make a move before some reporter gets at you."

"Oh, she'll come back," replied the young man as he looked anxiously round.

"She will, eh? Joke grows richer and richer. What makes you think she'll come?"

"Because she's my wife, and this is our first baby."

"Oh—h'm, I see," muttered the old man, whose hilarity suddenly evaporated, and when he also discovered that he'd lost his train he kicked a dog that had been left unguarded on the platform.—London Answers.

A Bridge of Coffins.

When the British forces were marching to Peking in 1860, after the capture of the Taku forts, one of the rivers became so swollen with the heavy rains that it was rendered almost impassable. While in this quandary a bright idea suddenly struck one of our officers. Being well aware that the Chinese generally order their coffins years in advance and keep them on the premises and also that they are perfectly air tight, he consulted with his brother officers, with the result that orders were given to search all the houses of the village and collect every coffin. With the aid of a few empty casks the soldiers constructed a pontoon bridge of coffins sufficiently strong to bear the artillery, and the river was thus passed in safety.—London Standard.

An Odd Post Card.

The most curious post card ever produced, according to a leading philatelist, was one which the Japanese government put out in 1873.

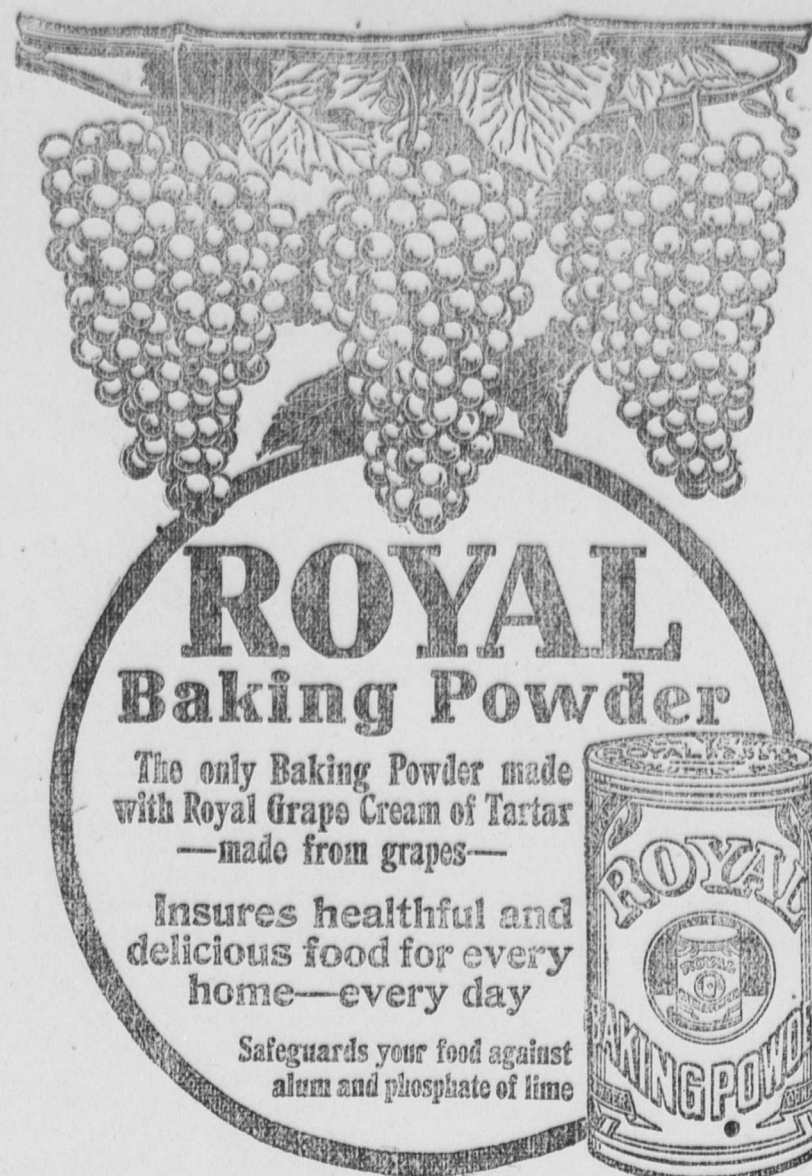

In describing he says it is "really a sheet of paper folded so as to form four pages of a narrow book. On the front page is a border inclosing an impressed stamp for the postage rate and a space for the address. On the second page are printed in native characters only minute directions for use. On the third page are ruled a number of vertical lines, between which the sender was to write his communication, and the fourth page was a blank." They remained in use until 1875.

"Easin' a Mountain."

A good example of the caustic humor of a Scotch examiner floats this way from we know not where. It seems that Scotch parish schoolmasters are in their appointment examined as to their literary qualifications. One of the fraternity, being called by his examiner to translate Horace's ode beginning "Exegi monumentum oere perennius," began as follows: "Exegi monumentum" (I have eaten a mountain). "Ah," said one of the examiners, "ye needna proceed any further, for after eatin' sic a dinner this parish was a pulr mouthfu' t' ye. Ye maun try some wider sphere."—"Poet Lore."

Far Farming—Our Two Atmospheres.

—Electrolytic Iron Tubes.—Progress on the United States Map.—Passing of the Sea-Elephant.—Instrumental Music by Birds.—The Submarine Bell.—Wireless Weather.—Cheap Egg-Preservation.

One of the most precious products of American soil is supplied by three backwoods farms of Prince Edward Island. These farms are devoted to rearing the very rare black fox, and Consul John H. Shirley, of Charlottetown, reports that they contain 20, 25 and 30 foxes, respectively. Prized for royal cloaks, as it is the only fur to which gold ornaments can be applied, the skins sell in London for $500 to $1800 each. The farm described is in a rough, broken woods country, fenced by heavy woven-wire netting, which reaches eight feet above the ground and two or three below. To ensure the best possible fur, the foxes are not cross-bred. They sleep in hollow trees and logs the year round, are fed chiefly on oats and milk and bread and milk, with a little meat once a day, and are so wild that only their keeper with food can get near them.

The lower atmosphere and the upper atmosphere are believed by Prof. J. Hann to be two very different gaseous mixtures. At the earth's surface the composition is: Nitrogen, 78.03; oxygen, 20.99; argon, 0.94; carbonic acid, 0.03; hydrogen, 0.01; neon, 0.0015; helium, 0.00015; krypton, 0.00010. At a height of 20 kilometers (12.43 miles) he finds the nitrogen increased to 84.31 per cent, with 15.19 of oxygen. At 100 kilometers, with a probable temperature of 80 degrees below zero Cent., the hydrogen seems increased to 99.45 per cent, with 0.453 of helium, and only 0.009 of nitrogen.

Sheets and tubes of pure iron, produced by the Cowper-Coles electrolytic process direct from the ore at a cost of $12 per ton for power, were late interesting exhibits at a Royal Society conversazione.

The mapping of the United States by the Geological Survey has been in progress since 1877, and so far some what more than a third of the country has been surveyed, or about 1,050,000 square miles, exclusive of parts of Alaska. The atlas in sheets representing areas, called quadrangles, and parallels of longitude and latitude. Maps have been made of about 1700 quadrangles, and have been published in sheets of the nearly uniform size of 17 by 20 inches, but on three different scales. The maps of 1 mile to the inch average about 230 square miles, those of 2 miles to the inch show 920 square miles, and those of 4 miles to the inch represent 3,700 square miles. The large scale is used for densely populated and otherwise important areas; the second for thinly settled, mountainous or desert regions; and the smallest for areas covered by reconnaissance surveys. A special larger scale is used for some particularly important areas. The maps show the important natural features, all political boundaries, routes of travel, cities and towns, with the names of the various features, and also indicate permanent survey monuments, bench marks that have been accurately fixed, and boundaries established in public land surveys. Of the three colors, black is used for the chief features, brown for elevation, and blue for water.

The latest large animal to become extinct, the California sea elephant (Macrorhinus angustirostris), is a species belonging to the seal family, and the male had a tubular proboscis that could be elongated and dilated. Specimens taken to England a few months ago by Walter Rothschild's collectors are the last. They were taken on the island of Guadalupe, off the coast of Southern California, and will be preserved in the London Natural History Museum and elsewhere. Until now no museum has had an adult male specimen.

Bird whistles are a curious Peking product. Bamboo whistles of two to five tubes and gourd whistles of two to thirteen apertures are wired to the tails of the pigeons, and emit a peculiar and pleasing aerial music as the birds fly through the air.

The first practical use of submarine fog signals seems to have been made on the vessels of the Zealand line, running between Flessingue, Holland, and Queensborough, England. The ordinary signals on the two jetties of Flessingue had proven ineffective in directing vessels in fog to the entry of the port, and the difficulty was overcome by mounting a bell under water so that the sound sent outward should be strong in the waterway between these jetties but feeble on either side. A spring is arranged to give a powerful action on the striker for ringing the bell. Near the forward end of the ship, below the water line, a sound receiver in a water-tight iron box is placed at each side, and each receiver is connected to a telephone on the captain's bridge. By means of a switch the sound of the two receivers can be brought to the ear alternately. The relative intensity indicates the direction of the shore-bell, and shows how to steer to keep in the center of the channel.

Ocean observatories, connected to the continents, have been suggested as a need in forecasting European weather, but a more economical plan is proposed by M. Bigourdan, a French meteorologist, who would have regular weather reports furnished by steamships equipped with wireless telegraph apparatus. How essential are the observations at sea is seen from the fact that weather changes are generally associated with the passage of atmospheric depressions from the westward in the Atlantic north of 35 degrees North latitude. About half of these depressions seem to come from North America, and the others form in the open ocean. Wireless weather reports are already made by British naval vessels.

Acting on the theory that the preservation of eggs depends upon absolutely preventing the interchange of air between the outside and inside, Dr. Campanini has stopped the pores of the shells with laid and packed with no point of contact on a bed of dry tow or fine odorless shavings. By this simple plan the weight, color and flavor of the eggs were perfectly retained at the end of a year.

Making It Plain.

Heart was paying his first visit to London and was already wishing himself home in gay Paris, for he knew not a word of English. He had been very unfortunate and had lost all his luggage, a toothbrush. So he determined to buy another. But how was he to make his needs understood?

At last his luck turned, however, and he espied a chemist's shop with a notice outside, "Ici on parle Francais." In he went and told the assistant in French what he wanted. But that assistant knew no language except English, and another who came to help him was just as far at sea.

But the proprietor was an intelligent man, and he knew at once from the cut of the customer's clothes that he was speaking French.

"Leave him to me," he said, with a superior smile.

Then, forming a megaphone with his hands, he shouted in the Frenchman's ear:

"Our assistant who speaks French is out at lunch. You'll have to wait!"—London Scraps.

Swordsmen of the Sea.

The swordsmen of the sea are the sawfish, spearfishes, sailfishes, swordfishes and the narwhal, with its spirally twisted straight tusks. The sawfishes inhabit the warmer seas, while the narwhal is a creature of the arctic. The tusk of the narwhal is hollow nearly to the point and is spirally grooved. It uses its tusk as a weapon of defense and to plunge through the ice to breathe, the narwhal being a cetacean. Sometimes when a boat has been caught in the ice great damage has been inflicted by the inquisitiveness or blundering of this great creature, that sometimes reaches a length of fifteen feet, with a tusk of from six to ten feet in length. As a rule, however, the narwhal uses its tusk for the purpose of killing fish for food. In the castle of Rosenberg the kings of Denmark have long possessed a magnificent throne made of tusks of this cetacean. These tusks are harder and whiter than ivory.

Beavers Train Their Young.

Naturalists have placed the beaver a long way down in the list of vertebrates, but it undoubtedly stands next to man in the variety of occupations in which it engages. All cats are hunters, while foxes that are not thieves may be included also among the Nimrods. All canaries are prima donnas, and monkeys make clever comedians, but it is only the beaver parent that educates its children to take up several trades. In a single colony among them you will find civil and marine engineers, woodchoppers, raftsmen, laborers, quarrymen, miners, plasterers, masons, carpenters, hodcarriers and fishermen. All beavers take contracts for building dams, but when the work is undertaken the task is so divided that each member of the colony has its own particular work to look after. In this way they make some wonderful excavations and construct their dams in an incredibly short time.

Marry and Part for a Year.

Among the many peculiar customs prevalent among the people of Central America is that of parting for one year after the marriage ceremony has been solemnized. This custom has prevailed among the Jaraos from time immemorial. There is no courtship allowed to be carried on between the parties prior to the wedding. When a man selects a woman he obtains the consent of the parents on both sides, and if this is given they are at once married. The reason, however, for their not living together as man and wife for one year after marriage is in order to permit of the parties visiting and staying with their respective friends in different parts of the country, which is a customary thing; and occupies the time specified. Ninety-nine out of a hundred of these marriages turn out well.

A Chance to Spoon.

A young couple from the suburbs went to Dublin the other day to see the pantomime. Being early, they visited a tea room and had the place all to themselves. The attending waitress had omitted in serving them to supply the necessary implement to effectually assist in the proper and palatable admixture of the tea, cream and sugar.

"Can we have a spoon?" inquired the swain.

"Certainly," replied the observant attendant. "I am just tidying up, and you can have the whole room to yourselves in a minute or two."—Liverpool Mercury.

Holding His Job.

"I think the man who works at that place across the street is the most faithful and conscientious workman I ever saw. He never takes a holiday and always labors away till it's too dark to see any longer."

"Faithful workman! Great Scott! He's the proprietor of the shop!"—Chicago Tribune.

The Fireside Diplomat.

"I don't want to be nagging at you," Mrs. Marryat began, "but it's the little things that bother me most!"

"Ah!" interrupted her husband sweetly. "I suppose you're going to tell me you haven't a decent pair of shoes?"—Philadelphia Press.

Homemade.

"We are told to cast our bread upon the waters," said a young wife.

"But don't you do it," replied her husband. "A vessel might run against it and get wrecked."—Simplissimus.

A Wrong Guess.

Botanical Youth (in park)—Can you tell me if this plant belongs to the arbutus family? Gardener (curtly)—No, young man, it don't. It belongs to the county council.—London Globe.

TAFT FOR PRESIDENT.

The republican convention disposed of the contested delegations, and the wrangles over the platform, much sooner than was expected. The Taft forces were in such overwhelming numbers, that they were able to carry out any prearranged program to expedite matters in the interest of their candidate. The "allies" were fighting for delay, hoping that something might turn up to weaken the leading candidate. The Taft men, on the other hand, fully aware of the tactics of the opposition, wanted to push things ahead, and evidently moved the convention toward the nominating point in short order. It was announced beforehand from the Taft side that nominations would be made Thursday, and they were able to make good their prediction. On Thursday afternoon a dispatch was posted in front of the local telegraph office announcing the nomination of Taft on the first ballot, giving the vote in detail as follows:

Taft	703
La Follette	26
Foraker	16
Cannon	61
Fairbanks	40
Knox	8
Hughes	63
Roosevelt	3
Total	920

When the supreme test came the strength of the allies wilted to 217 votes. Cannon and Fairbanks were the only "favored son" candidates that mustered more votes than their respective states cast, La Follette of Wisconsin received just the number of votes credited to his state. Knox, of Pennsylvania, went all to pieces, getting only 8 out of the 68 votes. Hughes fell 15 short of New York's complement. It was evidently a scramble, in view of the inevitable, to get on the winning side.

SKETCH OF REPUBLICAN CANDIDATE.

William Howard Taft, of Cincinnati, Ohio, the republican presidential nominee, was born in Cincinnati, Hamilton county, Ohio, September 15, 1857; was graduated in 1874 from Woodward High School; graduated from Yale University in 1878; graduated in law from Cincinnati College in 1880, in which year he was admitted to bar of supreme court of Ohio; appointed assistant prosecuting attorney in 1881; resigned in 1882 to become collector of internal revenue, first district, Ohio, under President Arthur; resigned collectorship in 1883 to enter practice of law; in 1887 was appointed by Governor Foraker judge of the superior court of Cincinnati; resigned in 1890 to become Solicitor-General of the United States under appointment of President Harrison; resigned in 1892 to become United States circuit judge for sixth judicial circuit; in 1896 he became professor and dean of law department of University of Cincinnati; resigned in 1900 circuit judgeship and deanship to become, by appointment of President McKinley, president of the United States Philippine Commission; in 1901, by appointment of President McKinley, became first civil governor of the Philippine Islands; was appointed Secretary of War by President Roosevelt February 1, 1904.

Our standard-bearer is a man of marked ability, one of the brainiest men in the nation today. He has rendered distinguished service in every public position he has been called upon to fill, and will make a worthy successor to carry out the popular policies of president Roosevelt.

SUMMARY OF REPUBLICAN PLATFORM.

The platform adopted at Chicago is of unusual length, but deals strongly with all the issues now confronting the people. We shall publish it in full next week. Its main features may be summarized as follows:

Recounts the achievements of the republican party, and the great progress of the nation under the administration of president Roosevelt; declares for tariff revision, without impairment of home industry; free interchange of products with the Philippine Islands; the establishment of postal savings banks; favors the present anti-trust law, with certain amendments; recommends the passage of an employers' liability law; the extension of free rural mail delivery; an anti-injunction law of the mildest form; the conservation of national resources; an efficient army and navy; liberal pensions for veterans, their widows and orphan children; the enforcement and extension of civil service laws; the settlement of international disputes by peaceful arbitration; contrasts the tendencies of the two great political parties—the trend of democracy being toward socialism, while the republican party stands for a wise and regulated individual; the democrats would have the nation own the people, while republicans would have the people own the nation; it asks the support of all citizens who desire to maintain the policies, perpetuate the blessings, and make secure the achievements of a greater America.

The Knock-out Blow.

The blow which knocked out Corbett was a revelation to the prize fighters. From the earliest days of the ring the knock-out blow was aimed for the jaw, the temple or the jugular vein. Stomach punches were thrown in to worry and weary the fighter, but if a scientific man had told one of the old fighters that the most vulnerable spot was the region of the stomach, he'd have laughed at him for an ignoramus. Dr. Pierce is bringing home to the public a parallel fact; that the stomach is the most vulnerable organ out of the prize ring as well as in it. We protect our heads, throats, feet and lungs, but the stomach we are utterly indifferent to, until disease finds the solar plexus and knocks us out. Make your stomach sound and strong by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and you protect yourself in your most vulnerable spot. "Golden Medical Discovery" cures "weak stomach," indigestion, or dyspepsia, torpid liver, bad, thin and impure blood and other diseases of the organs of digestion and nutrition.

The "Golden Medical Discovery" has a specific curative effect upon all mucous surfaces and hence cures catarrh, no matter where located or what stage it may have reached. In Nasal Catarrh it is well to cleanse the passages with Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy fluid while using the "Discovery" as a constitutional remedy. Why the "Golden Medical Discovery" cures catarrhal diseases, as of the stomach, bowels, bladder and other pelvic organs will be plain to you if you will read a booklet of extracts from the writings of eminent medical authorities, endorsing its ingredients and explaining their curative properties. It is mailed free on request. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y. This booklet gives all the ingredients entering into Dr. Pierce's medicines from which it will be seen that they contain not a drop of alcohol, pure, triple-refined glycerine being used instead. Dr. Pierce's great thousand-page illustrated Common Sense Medical Adviser will be sent free, paper-bound, for 21 one-cent stamps, or cloth-bound for 31 stamps. Address Dr. Pierce as above.
